Is it a building game? Is it a comic character? A small domestic robot? Duii is original and fun right from its name which is inspired by one of Donald Duck's nephews. Its base even looks like a duck's foot and can be used as a handy trinket tray. Its hinged arm, held together with wing screws like blocks in a building game, supports a rounded body which in turn brings a multitude of memories and inspirations to mind: retro car headlights, a workman's hard hat but also the Mohican style head on the Diesel logo.

It is available in two colour variants: bright yellow in the "men at work" style and a warm shade of sober but simultaneously technological grey.

It was created for resilient, playful spirits of all ages, as its inspirational motto "hard work always pays" suggests.

The moulded poly-prismatic glass is sand-blasted on the inside and polished on the outside, with a vintage finish like the headlight of an old car. The adjustable arm is made of powder-coated steel with functional and decorative black galvanised butterfly screws; the moulded zamak base is powder-coated and also acts as a trinket tray. Diesel Creative Team

In 2009, Foscarini signed a partnership agreement with Diesel as part of the "Home Collection" home furnishings and lifestyle project. This partnership has given Foscarini the opportunity to make contact with a new target clientele and explore new lifestyles and furnishing trends through a collection conceived by Diesel for its own target group: "Diesel Living with Foscarini".

The Diesel Living with Foscarini collection speaks a range of different languages - from rock to pop, industrial to vintage, graphics to art - to illustrate the unmistakable Diesel lifestyle. Ironic, transgressive, eclectic, incandescent, the collection is made up of over 40 different lamp models. The collection is structured into a range of forms, materials and intended uses, lending itself to unexpected and unconventional settings, from domestic to public environments, always with a strong personality. The materials selected and researched for Foscarini, and perhaps even more so in the Diesel Living with Foscarini collection, are of the utmost importance. Materials which have never before been used in the lighting industry are the collection's added value.
